If you’re unsure about something, most of the schematics have a description that you can get to if you click on the three dots, then go to file information and then click details, and scroll down all the way on the sidebar. For storage the schematics will have a code (ex. ML001) and if you go into the notes document for that folder, you can see how to use it and stuff.

Also, the reason you guys are viewers is just incase someone comes into our base and steals the link and deletes everything. If you want to add a schematic just ask me.

Chronmos Archive

It’s the least laggy mossbased bonemeal farm that makes 2k bonemeal per hour per module. Also sometimes, non bonemeal items are outputted so make sure to place an item filter.

Farms

They are farms, nothing more to be said.

Also the 4 way junction is a thing for Minecart rails.